

Academic Programs Database Submission Form

The International Society for Pharmaceutical Engineering focuses on scientific innovation in pharmaceutical manufacturing technologies and enhancing integration between the industry, academia and regulatory agencies worldwide.

Part of our work is to provide information to young people and guidance counselors researching educational options that can lead to careers within the industry. To facilitate their research efforts we have created an Academic Database and are seeking submissions from academic institutions to include relevant information on their programs.

Please consider completing the following form and submitting it to us via email or fax so we may share your academic opportunities with our student members and those using our clearinghouse service. As you deem appropriate, please forward this form to other departments in your institution so our information comprehensively lists all of your offerings. The database can be accessed by visiting www.ispe.org and selecting Academia and Students. We will reach out to you annually to confirm that your information is up-to-date.
